

Maxwell

F A B R I C S

SPRING/SUMMER 2009 COLLECTIONS

Patterns featured from “Easy Rider”

Trends forecasted for 2010 emphasize luxurious, yet simple elegance in home décor, while remaining focused on comfort, quality, and practicality. To achieve this, interior design must balance fashion forward trends with sustainable style.

Our Spring/Summer collection offers an assortment of luxury looks; from the sumptuous glamour of leather to the effortlessly chic style of linen.

Since dominating fashion magazines and runway shows, the dramatic look of leather is now making a major impact in home décor. These sleek and sexy styles inspired the creation of “Easy Rider”, an 80 sku compilation of faux leather to dazzle your clients.

Our exclusive collection offers a variety of traditional leather looks from cow-hide and ostrich skin, to contemporary metallic and patent leathers.

Pattern: “Slickershock”

Recent developments in technology have resulted in a wave of new creativity and imagination in textile design. One of the most unique and innovative textiles highlighted in this collection is pattern Slickershock; a futuristic looking vinyl that changes color as it is stretched out for upholstery. The look is dynamite!

In addition to the shimmer and shine of patent and metallic leathers, “Easy Rider” also offers a collection of natural looking hides available in a wide range of “classic” colors. Our large palette includes every color of leather imaginable; from rich mahogany and dark chocolate brown, to light tan, beige, and white.

These leathers look so real Ralph Lauren would be jealous!

From shoes and handbags, to ottomans and sofas, faux leathers fulfill the desire for durable and sophisticated fashion forward style.

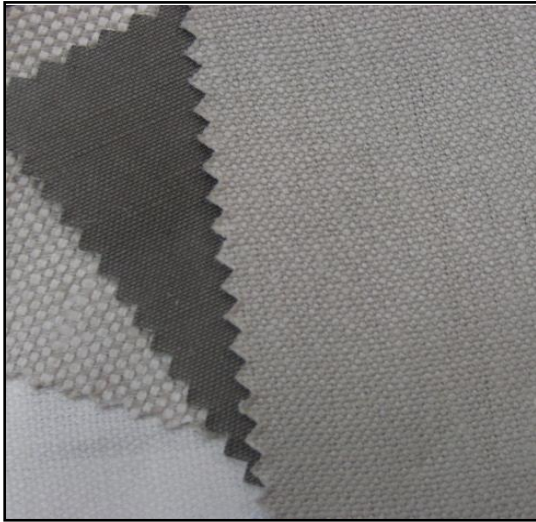

As we continue to offer our clientele the latest trends in color and design, we value the need for basic fabrics and natural fibers to balance out our line.

Over the next few seasons, Maxwell Fabrics will focus on creating full color ranges of solid and textured fabric stack books to build a complete and comprehensive fabric library.

This season’s stack book collection is “Additions”

“Additions” is the perfect complement to any room. We have compiled our exclusive custom colored faux silks from “Guest Room”, “London Calling”, and “Head over Heels” into this 50 sku stack book. These beautiful silk-like fabrics can be used in co-ordination with other collections in our line yet hold their own as “stand alone” draperies and bedding treatments.

“Additions” is an essential collection for every library looking for decorative faux silks at a value price point.

Patterns featured from “Only “Natural””

Linen is still receiving a lot of attention in the market and is forecasted to continue its growth cycle for years to come. Part of this popularity is simply due to the classic elegance achieved through linen’s natural properties. The cool, crisp hand of raw linen or the soft “shabby-chic” look of tumbled-washed linen create a casual sophistication whether used for bedding, upholstery, or drapery treatments.

Another reason why linen continues to be “in vogue” is due to its application in new and creative ways. No longer limited to casual settings, linen is now seen dressed up with accents of silk, velvet, or metallic leather, creating a polished and modern aesthetic.

The growing demand for linen looks inspired the creation of “Only Natural”, a 42 sku stack book of 100% natural fibers. The collection is made up of solid and textured weaves of 100% linen, linen/cotton blends, and 100% cottons, emphasizing a neutral pallet, while still covering a full colour spectrum. “Only Natural” is an essential “workhorse” for every design library, and a great collection to follow up “Pot of Gold” and compliment “Luxury Linens”.

Enjoy this season!

Jennifer Ames
Maxwell Fabrics
Vice President of Product Development & Design
www.maxwellfabrics.com